NURSE FOR FIRST TIME TELLS IN FULL SUSAN GEARY'S DEATH STORY

Miss Sarah Elizabeth Griffiths, Who Attended Suit Case Victim on Death Bed, Recounts Pathetic Scene as Dying Girl Pleaded for Mother and Priest.

To a close friend and confidante, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Griffiths, who nursed Susan Agnes Geary, the victim of the dress suit case crime, during the greater part of her illness, and who was present at the pitiful death of the little dancer, told the details of her connection with this amazing case.

This story the BOSTON AMERICAN is able to make public to-day for the first time. Nothing that has been told in connection with this sensational crime so far approximates in heart interest the recital of what took place in that sick room where the unfortunate girl breathed her last, pleading in vain for the presence of her mother and of a priest.

This story of the nurse will be told on the witness stand next week when Dr. Percy McLeod, Louis W. Crawford and William E. Hunt, alias Howard, are placed on trial for complicity in the girl's death, and it will be the most dramatic testimony to be given in this intensely interesting trial.

Stricken Girl Cried for Mother.

Miss Griffiths tells of the sick girl's cries for her mother. It was "Mother—mother—oh, mother!" all the time as the shadows of death began to darken the victim's narrow horizon. Then, in spite of the untruthful stories poured into her ears, telling her that she would recover, it dawned upon the girl's mind that the gates were opening for her to the Great Beyond, and she pleaded for a priest.

Hoped to Save Her Life

And then, Miss Griffiths declares, Mrs. Mary S. Dean, to whose house the girl was dying, opposed the granting of her wish. The unfeeling woman feared the consequences to herself if the priest were summoned, and so, the nurse says, she allowed the spirit of the sufferer to wing its flight without the solace that could have made her last moments ones of peace.

Miss Griffiths says that she only knew two doctors in connection with the case—Dr. McLeod and Dr. Pettie, the latter assisting the former after the first heroic operation was performed with the hope of saving the girl's life.

Memoranda of the chief facts of the case were made by the nurse, who she has in her possession, and will be able to lay before the court. That she came to the police voluntarily is the emphatic statement of the attorney of the now and important witness that the police have secured.

Nurse Griffiths' Story of Girl's Death

To a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter, a close friend and confidante of Miss Griffiths said: "Miss Griffiths was called into the Geary case by Dr. McLeod in time to assist at the major operation made in the attempt to save the girl's life and was told to remain and care for Susan Geary. When she realized the true nature of the illness of the young girl, her first impulse was to leave. That she did not leave was in the main due to the loneliness and friendlessness of the patient, who would then be left

DEWEY, BOUND TO RUN, PLANS RED HOT BATTLE

"PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE" DEAF TO APPEALS OF MACHINE LEADERS TO QUIT RACE.

Judge Henry S. Dewey, independent candidate for Mayor of Boston, is preparing for a vigorous campaign. All efforts to placate him and to induce him to accept the result of the primaries which nominated Louis A. Frothingham as the Republican candidate have failed.

He says he expects to be able to reply to day to the challenge of Fred A. Evers of the Ward 21 Committee to prove his own charge that he did not get a square deal in the handling of ballots by precinct officers in that district.

DONOVAN AND FITZGERALD IN CONFERENCE

Superintendent of Streets and Candidate Plan for Party Harmony.

Superintendent of Streets James Donovan and John F. Fitzgerald, Democratic candidate for Mayor of Boston, are to hold a conference late today.

It is said at City Hall that the conference was suggested by Candidate Fitzgerald and arranged by President W. T. A. Fitzgerald of the Democratic City Council.

Superintendent Donovan was a supporter of Edward J. Donovan for the Democratic nomination and the leader of Ward 9. This ward was one of the few which Donovan carried.

Politicians believe that the conference was arranged in the interests of Democratic harmony.

MYSTERIOUS ESCAPE FROM NAVAL PRISON

Frank Kelly, With Five Years
More to Serve, Disappears
From Navy Yard.

Frank Kelly, a sailor who has served but three years of an eight-year sentence for fraudulent enlistment, larceny and other offenses, including insubordination, escaped from the prisoners' breakfast room at the Charlestown navy yard today in a most mysterious manner. The government officials are employing every known means to find and return him to confinement and they expect that he will be recaptured before many hours.

As far as now known the sentries on the Charlestown navy yard were in their accustomed places and everything was usual when Kelly disappeared.

When the other prisoners were returned to their quarters, his absence was discovered. Colonel Kelton said: "It is true that prisoner Frank Kelly disappeared today, but the authorities are not particularly concerned. He is a sailor, taking steps toward his release. I do not know the circumstances of his enlistment, nor where he belongs."

Four Hundred, Mostly Girls, in Lawrence Parochial School Saved by Heroic Work. More Than 100 Little Ones Plunged from Burning Building Into Nets.

Special to the Boston American.

LAWRENCE, Nov. 22.—Into fire nets and firemen's coats more than a hundred children jumped from the windows of St. Anne's Parochial School to-day.

Behind them flames and smoke had cut them off from the stairways, and only the bravery and coolness of the sisters and the firemen saved them from death.

So rapidly did the children leap from the windows that at one moment there were fourteen little girls in one of the large fire nets.

200 Flee in Panic From Fire.

Two hundred children escaped by the stairway. There was a panic, and the boys and girls fell over each other, but the thirteen Sisters worked like Trojans to calm the little ones, and, almost miraculously, only one was hurt.

Rena Drinn of No. 108 Lowell street, fell on the stairs and was trampled on by others. No bones were broken and her injuries are not serious.

When fire and smoke was discovered by Sister Eugenie breaking through the walls of a room on the second story of the wooden building, she sent in an alarm and then gave her attention to the terror-stricken pupils.

In that building were 400 children, a large majority of them girls. A hundred of them, on the ground floor, had no difficulty in escaping. Three hundred, in the upper floors, were in greatest peril.

In the adjacent building, which is of brick, there were 200 more pupils. These were at once marshaled out in an orderly manner, without panic.

From the second and third floors of the wooden building, which stands flanking the brick, which shrank more smoke than flames, and was extinguished without much difficulty by the firemen.

One of the children was somewhat overpowered by smoke, but was soon reconnected after reaching the open air.

The second effort of the children to get their clothes safely out of the building did not end until the last child was out. Sister Susan Marie waited on the second floor until the last child was out, and then calmly climbed down the ladder that the firemen had thrown.

Sister Bernard, who after the escape, is principal of the school, the assistants in the wooden building are Sisters Norma Marie, Lady and Sister Mary of Compassion.

Insufficient heating apparatus caused the fire, which shrank more smoke than flames, and was extinguished without much difficulty by the firemen.

WEDS MAN CHARGED WITH ABDUCTING HER

FALL RIVER, Nov. 22.—Mabel Ostrander, a wealthy San Francisco liquor dealer, was arrested in Boston on Saturday charged with the abduction of her wife.

Josephine Ostrander of this city, when arrested, she said, through her counsel that the mother of the girl had consented to the abduction, but later had been convinced from the private Court and the city clerk, and that he stood ready to marry the girl at once.

Inspector Shaw, who arrested the couple as they were about to board a train for San Francisco, went with them to the house of the mother, who was very nervous.

They will leave for San Francisco in a few days.

SAY LYNNING WAS 'QUIET AFFAIR'

MERIDEN, Conn., Nov. 22.—Dave Slone, a negro, murdered R. F. Jones, near Clarksville, Miss., was lynched early today by a mob of sixty men and women of the town. It was different, last night, he said, from a mob.

It was a "quiet affair," those who took part in it said. The mob was organized and dispersed after the negro was strung up.

YALE TO PLAY QUARTERBACK JONES ON SATURDAY

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 22.—"Tad" Jones, Yale's brilliant quarterback, has been named for the greater part of the signal drill and there is no doubt that he will start the game against Harvard Saturday. Hutchinson succeeded Jones for a short time during the practice.

The teams were not lined up for a scrimmage until noon. The coaches, O'Connell, Cullen and Townsend, decided to continue their work, as every man is in good shape. In accordance with this plan, there fore, the first and second formations lined up and put through a signal drill.

WHITE TO COME FOR FIGHT WITH DANE

Harvard eleven has had its last work before the Yale game, and to the Harvard eleven is ready to stand fast, as the case may be, in the great fight which will be held with Captain White's eleven on Soldiers Field next Saturday. This was the word given out by Coach Reid last night after the team finished their fifteen minute scrimmage in the afternoon. No more scrimmaging, only fast signal drill, to get the team into the game.

Harvard's Desperate Chances.

It is the order for the great battle to draw near every one at Cambridge feels that the chances are desperate. Mass Meeting Tonight.

A mass meeting will be held in the Harvard Union to-night, at which Captain Reid and Coach Reid will speak. It is expected that it will be the greatest rally held at Harvard, for the students are with the team, and there is a feeling that the chances are desperate.

Bill Carr in Game.

Bill Carr will take the place again next Saturday at fullback and showed that he is the best man for the place. His defensive play was splendid and his offense was also good. He was the star of the game.

Another player who got back into the game yesterday was Jimmy White. He played fullback and showed that he is the best man for the place. His defensive play was splendid and his offense was also good.

White's fight with Dane is expected to be one of the best of the season. White is a powerful fighter and Dane is a powerful fighter. They are expected to have a great fight.
